The Characters

One of the novel's greatest strengths lies in its vibrant and diverse cast of characters. Marisa Kitt is a relatable and fiercely independent protagonist whose determination and wit make her a force to be reckoned with. She is joined by a motley crew of hackers, activists, and misfits, each with their unique skills and personalities. From the edgy and enigmatic Anja to the charming and tech-savvy

Tobu, every character serves a purpose in driving the story forward and ensuring that readers are fully invested in their fates.

The Themes

Bluescreen Mirador delves into various thought-provoking themes that reflect the challenges and moral dilemmas of our increasingly interconnected world. The novel examines the dark side of technological progress, exploring how virtual reality, hacking, and corporate power can shape and manipulate society. It raises questions about privacy, identity, and the blurred lines between the real and virtual worlds. Through its intricate world-building and compelling narrative, the novel encourages readers to think critically about the consequences of our reliance on technology.

The Writing Style

Dan Wells' writing style in Bluescreen Mirador is immersive and evocative. His vivid descriptions bring the gritty cyberpunk world of Los Angeles to life, allowing readers to feel fully immersed in the neon-lit streets and dank alleyways. Wells skillfully balances fast-paced action with introspective moments, creating a narrative that keeps readers on the edge of their seats while also exploring the emotional depth of the characters. The dialogues are sharp and punchy, capturing the essence of each character's voice and adding layers of authenticity to the story.

“Bluescreen is a stunning deluge of imagination, filled with suspense and twists and unforgettable characters. This book is just plain awesome.”—James Dashner, bestselling author of The Maze Runner

From Dan Wells, author of the New York Times bestselling Partials Sequence, comes the first book in a new sci-fi-noir series. Los Angeles in 2050 is a city of open doors, as long as you have the right connections. That connection is a djinni—a smart device implanted right in a person’s head. In a world where virtually everyone is online twenty-four hours a day, this connection is like oxygen—and a world like that presents plenty of opportunities for someone who knows how to manipulate it.

Marisa Carnesecca is one of those people. She might spend her days in Mirador, but she lives on the net—going to school, playing games, hanging out, or doing things of more questionable legality with her friends Sahara and Anja. And it's Anja who first gets her hands on Bluescreen—a virtual drug that plugs right into a person's djinni and delivers a massive, nonchemical, completely safe high. But in this city, when something sounds too good to be true, it usually is, and Mari and her friends soon find themselves in the middle of a conspiracy that is much bigger than they ever suspected.
