

Embarking on an Unforgettable Journey Through France By Pony And Trap: A Charming Adventure

When it comes to exploring a country, modern transportation has made it incredibly convenient for us to reach our desired destinations quickly. However, there is something uniquely enchanting about embarking on a journey through picturesque landscapes at a leisurely pace. In this article, we invite you to join us on an unforgettable adventure as we travel through France by pony and trap.

Discovering the Magic of Slow Travel

In today's fast-paced world, being able to explore a country at a slower pace is a luxury that many yearn for. It allows you to truly immerse yourself in the culture, take in the scenic beauty, and connect with the locals in a way that simply cannot be replicated when flying from one city to another.

Choosing to travel by pony and trap in France presents a unique opportunity to break away from the conventional path and embrace the tranquility of the countryside. As you sit back and relax on your rustic wooden carriage, the clip-clop of hoofs against the cobblestone roads creates a rhythm that perfectly blends with the soothing sounds of nature.

Planning Your Pony and Trap Adventure

Your journey begins with careful planning to ensure a smooth and enjoyable experience. Mapping out your route, booking accommodations in quaint villages along the way, and preparing the necessary supplies are all part of the exciting process.

When selecting a pony and trap, it is important to choose one that fits your needs. Assessing the comfort for both you and the pony should be a priority. After all, a comfortable pony is a happy pony, which ultimately enhances your experience.

It is also crucial to pack wisely, as your journey will be an immersive one. Bringing essentials, such as camping gear, cooking utensils, and clothing suitable for various weather conditions, will allow you to fully embrace the freedom and autonomy that traveling by pony and trap offers.

Exploring the Delights of the French Countryside

As you set off on your adventure, you'll soon discover that the French countryside is brimming with hidden gems waiting to be explored. The rolling hills of Provence, the majestic castles of the Loire Valley, and the picturesque vineyards of Burgundy are just a taste of what awaits you on your journey.

One of the highlights of traveling by pony and trap is the ability to access remote areas that are often overlooked by traditional tourists. These off-the-beaten-path locations unveil the true beauty of France, with stunning landscapes that change with each passing mile.

Interacting with the locals is another aspect that makes this adventure truly memorable. As you trot through charming villages, you'll receive warm smiles, welcoming gestures, and perhaps even invitations to share a meal or engage in local customs. These encounters provide a unique insight into the French way of life, leaving lasting impressions and cherished memories.

Preserving the Spirit of Adventure

While the convenience of modern transportation cannot be denied, there is something undeniably special about choosing a mode of travel that embraces simplicity and authenticity. Traveling through France by pony and trap allows you to slow down, connect with nature, and appreciate the little things that often go unnoticed.

As we conclude this article, we invite you to ponder the idea of embarking on your own adventure through France by pony and trap. Whether you seek solace, cultural immersion, or simply a break from the ordinary, this journey promises to be the experience of a lifetime.

Gay Pyper has spent all her life with horses and enjoys living adventurously. No one could say she shirks a challenge. So when she and her husband James decided to move permanently from Cornwall to their smallholding in South West France, she declared her intention of driving there by pony and trap. Their driving pony had died of old age a few years before – but they still had the custom-built trap.

This delightful book traces how Polly the 12.2hh skewbald pony came into, and took over, the Pypers' lives - entering happily into the meticulously-organised adventure of travelling hundreds of miles through rural France from Normandy to Gascony. Their plan was for Gay to drive the trap (and lead Polly up the hills on foot) while James went ahead each day with a 4x4 vehicle and caravan to set up camp for the evenings and longer rest stops. They did lots of research and reconnoitred the route several months in advance.

But first Gay and James had to buy a suitable second-hand caravan, and persuade DEFRA that they were not exporting Polly in order to eat her. Then they had to deal with all the things that Fate decided to throw at them to make the adventure more nail-biting. In fact, disaster struck even before they started, putting the whole venture in jeopardy. As was to happen many times, the kindness of strangers saved them...
