The Power Within You

Most of us go through life with a longing to make a difference. We crave connections and want to leave an impact on the world around us. Deep down, we know that we were made for something more, something bigger than ourselves.

Each and every one of us possesses unique abilities, talents, and perspectives that have the potential to shape the world in profound ways. However, sometimes we forget this truth or let fear, doubt, and societal pressures hold us back from embracing our true potential.

It's time to break free from those limitations and unlock the power within you. You were made to make a difference, and it's time to embrace this calling.

Embracing Your Uniqueness

Every individual has a unique combination of traits, experiences, and gifts that set them apart. These distinctive qualities are what make you special and enable you to bring something truly unique to the table.

Embracing your uniqueness means recognizing and valuing your individual strengths and abilities. It's about understanding that your perspective is valuable and that you have something important to contribute to the world.

Too often, we compare ourselves to others and mistakenly believe that we need to conform to certain expectations or standards to be successful. This mindset hinders us from fully expressing ourselves and making the difference we were born to make.

By embracing your uniqueness, you can tap into your full potential and bring forth ideas, solutions, and creativity that the world desperately needs.

Identifying Your True Passion

Passion is the driving force behind making a difference. When you are passionate about something, you feel a deep sense of purpose and fulfillment. This passion fuels your actions, giving you the determination and resilience to overcome obstacles and achieve your goals.

Take the time to reflect and identify your true passions. What causes, issues, or areas of expertise ignite a fire within you? What topics keep you up at night, engrossing your thoughts? When you pinpoint these passions, you can channel your energy towards making a real impact in those areas.

Remember, making a difference doesn't necessarily mean solving all the world's problems. It can start with making a difference in your own life or the lives of those around you. Every small step counts, and it is through these cumulative actions that true change begins to unfold.

Overcoming Fear and Doubt

Fear and doubt are common inhibitors when it comes to embracing our ability to make a difference. They hold us back from taking risks, pursuing our dreams, and stepping out of our comfort zones.

It's crucial to acknowledge and confront these fears head-on. Understand that experiencing fear is natural, but it shouldn't dictate your actions. Push past your comfort zone, challenge yourself, and believe in your abilities. Remember, the only way to truly grow and make a difference is by taking risks and facing your fears.

Start Today

Making a difference is not something reserved for a select few. It's a calling that resides within each of us. You have the power to change the world, one small step at a time.

Embrace your uniqueness, identify your passions, overcome your fears, and take action today. Remember, the difference you make may be bigger than you could ever imagine.

Don't let your potential go to waste. You were made to make a difference. Embrace your unique abilities and let your voice be heard. The world needs your contributions, your empathy, and your passion. Be bold, be courageous, and go forth in the knowledge that you have the power to change lives and shape the future.

Want to change the world? Did you know You Were Made to Make a Difference?

This adaptation of Outlive Your Life for teens offers practical tips youth can take out into their community to make a difference, plus real-life stories about those who have done just that. Teens learn that God can use them to make a difference right now. He wants to use them today, without waiting for them to be older, stronger, richer, or even more “together.” God can use their minds, their spirits, and their hands and feet to make permanent change for His kingdom.

Also included are valuable resources, interesting facts about the needy in the world and how little it takes to make a big difference, and other interactive elements such as journaling opportunities for writing personal ideas and service goals.

Teens will learn that their role in life is bigger than themselves, and that they’re not too young to make a difference for God.

Meets national education standards.
