The first summer cruise took place in the captivating Caribbean region. The moment passengers stepped aboard the Zophiel, they were greeted by a warm and friendly crew, ensuring a delightful journey from the very beginning. As the ship set sail, guests were mesmerized by the crystal clear waters and stunning panoramic views of the Caribbean islands.

The first stop on this remarkable journey was the beautiful and vibrant island of Jamaica. Guests embarked on an thrilling adventure, exploring the lush rainforests and cascading waterfalls. The tantalizing aroma of Jamaican cuisine filled the air, leaving passengers craving for more.

The next destination was the exotic and historical island of Cuba. Passengers had the opportunity to immerse themselves in the rich culture, stunning architecture, and vibrant nightlife. From exploring the streets of Havana to dancing to the rhythm of traditional Cuban music, every moment in Cuba was a celebration of life.

The final port of call was the pristine and secluded beaches of the Bahamas. Guests indulged in sunbathing, snorkeling, and various water sports. The white sandy beaches and crystal-clear waters created a paradise on Earth. As the Zophiel set sail back to its starting point, passengers bid farewell to the Caribbean region, carrying memories of laughter, adventure, and newfound friendships.

Voyage Two: Discovering the Mediterranean

The second summer cruise unfolded in the enchanting Mediterranean region. Aboard the Zophiel, passengers were transported to a world of ancient history, captivating landscapes, and delightful cuisines. The journey started with a spark of excitement and curiosity in every heart.

The first destination on this remarkable journey was the eternal city of Rome, Italy. Passengers were immersed in the grandeur of ancient Roman ruins, magnificent art, and mouth-watering Italian delicacies. The Colosseum, Vatican City, and the Sistine Chapel were just a few of the iconic landmarks that left everyone in awe.

The cruise then sailed towards the picturesque coastline of Greece. The stunning islands of Santorini and Mykonos welcomed passengers with their pristine white buildings, clear blue waters, and lively atmosphere. Exploring the narrow alleys, indulging in delicious Greek cuisine, and witnessing breathtaking sunsets were moments that will forever be etched in their hearts.

The final stop was the beautiful city of Barcelona, Spain. The architectural marvels of Antoni Gaudí, including the iconic Sagrada Familia and Park Güell, fascinated everyone. The lively streets, bustling markets, and vibrant nightlife were an invitation to indulge in the Spanish vibe.

A Sailing Experience of a Lifetime

Zophiel's Two Summer Cruises in 2007 offered passengers an unforgettable sailing experience. From the serene beauty of the Caribbean to the captivating charm of the Mediterranean, every moment on board was filled with joy, wonder, and adventure. The experienced crew ensured the comfort and safety of all passengers, making sure they felt at home throughout the journey.

Whether it was basking in the Caribbean sun, exploring ancient ruins, or immersing in the vibrant cultures of different countries, Zophiel provided a one-of-a-kind experience that went beyond expectations. The memories created during these summer cruises continue to inspire and fuel the dreams of new adventurers.

“Skagerrak and Back” is the story of my North Sea circuit aboard my 27ft yacht.

In 2007 I bit the bullet and decided to head for foreign climes. We crossed the North Sea from the Firth of Forth to Norway. We skirted the coast southwards to Sweden, through the Skagerrak past Denmark and into Germany. We travelled through the German and Dutch canals and back home through the uninviting waters of the English east coast. Most, but by no means all of the journey was sailed solo.

When I returned I wrote what started out as a 'log' of the trip. This is not, as you can probably spot, a tale of astonishing derring-do and bravery in the face of insurmountable odds. Neither does it purport to be a pilot book or sailing directions. It's just the story of an achievable summer cruise aboard a seaworthy wee boat.

Hopefully there's enough detail of the places I visited to whet the appetite and give you some idea just how good a cruising ground this part of the coast of Scandinavia is, or make you want to head for the surreal sailing waters of Holland's canals.

As I say the story started out as a 'log' of the trip. But I really couldn't be bothered keeping the kind of detailed sailing log that tells you exactly when I made a slight course change and how many Wheatabix I had in my long-life milk that morning.

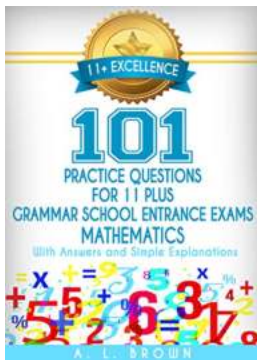

Sailing alone does sort of heighten your awareness of your environment. In my case it sharpens what the charitable might call my 'critical faculties'. So as well as the story of a cruise the log turned into a series of observations about the nature, culture, people, economy and boats of the places I passed through.

This is the first in a series of cruising 'logs' about Zophiel's voyages. "Floating Low to Lofoten" is about my trip to the Norwegian Arctic, "A Gigantic Whinge on the Celtic Fringe” is the story of our circumnavigation of Ireland and "Bobbing to the Baltic" describes a trip from Edinburgh to the Russian border..

Recently some of the people who have been slandered in these tales have suggested that they should be used for kindling. I've taken these kind words to heart, so here they are formatted for your Kindle.

This volume contains a lot of colour photographs. If you're struggling with grainy black and white on a 'Kindle', there's more sailing tales and the full set of colour photos from this volume at <http://www.edge.me.uk/Sailinghome.htm>
